Late work is never accepted

Question 6:

Student Response:

Question 6

1 / 1 pts

If you prefer to have a textbook to accompany the course material, where can you find some excellent free ones?

Correct!

The O'Reilly for Higher Education digital library, offered through K-State Libraries

The Computer Science Department's Library

The College of Engineering Library

I cannot recommend the O'Reilly for Higher Education more highly - they have thousands of current computer science textbooks on all subjects, and all available to you for free (well, technically for the price of admission to K-State). Even if you don't use it in this course, check it out for other classes/subjects where you want additional resources!

Question 7:

Student Response:

Question 7

1 / 1 pts

The details in the syllabus are subject to change as the course progresses.

Correct!

☒ True

☐ False

While we'll try to keep changes to a minimum, we may have to respond to changing circumstances in the world or incorporate new content students have expressed a desire to learn about.

Question 8:
Student Response:

Question 8		1 / 1 pts
Check all that constitute unauthorized aid in this course:
Correct!	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Sharing your completed project code with a friend struggling on the assignment
Correct!	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Using a solution project you found posted in an online forum
	<input type="checkbox"/>	Discussing details of a parsing algorithm with a classmate
	<input type="checkbox"/>	Using a description of a possible approach in the RocketChat channel as the basis for developing a function
Correct!	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Asking another student to complete your project in Codio
Correct!	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Bribing the TA to complete your assignment
	<input type="checkbox"/>	Working side-by-side with a classmate on the same assignment but different computers, bouncing ideas off one another but not sharing code
A good question to ask yourself is "Did this solution come from my brain?" If you had to determine what the code should be, and write it, it's probably okay. If you're just copying it from somewhere else, you are shortchanging your learning and using unauthorized aid.

Question 9:
